

Hello, I'm

Cassie J. Iverson

PARALEGAL, MnCP

As a Paralegal at Everbright Legacy Law, Cassie handles Medical Assistance applications, veterans benefits, and Minnesota Veterans Home admissions. She helps families navigate systems that can feel designed to create barriers rather than provide help, drawing on 18 years of experience and a great deal of compassion to fight hard for the people she serves.

Cassie won't sugarcoat things. She tells clients the truth, sets realistic expectations, and keeps them informed every step of the way. At the same time, she never loses sight of the fact that behind every application is a real person and a family going through something difficult, and she treats every client the way she'd want her own family member treated: with honesty, patience, and deep respect.

Cassie earned a BA in English, with an emphasis in writing, from the University of St. Thomas and a Paralegal Certificate from the Minnesota Paralegal Institute. She is a Minnesota Certified Paralegal (MnCP) and a member of the Minnesota Paralegal Association.

Those who know Cassie well describe her as:

- Honest – Clients always know where they stand with her; she'd rather have a hard conversation upfront than let someone proceed without a clear picture.
- Direct – She communicates in plain language rather than legal jargon, because her clients deserve clarity, not confusion.
- Compassionate – She understands that most people come to her during one of the hardest seasons of their lives, and every call, application, and deadline matters deeply to her because it matters deeply to them.

Eighteen years ago, Cassie took a receptionist position at an elder law firm and fell in love with the work. Advocating for families turned out to be exactly where she was meant to be, even if she had no idea at the time that's where she was headed.

For Cassie, the motivation is simple: the stakes are real. She works with families during one of the hardest, most unfamiliar seasons of their lives, and the outcomes have a direct, lasting impact on people's security, dignity, and care. To her, this isn't just paperwork: it's everything.
