Everbright LEGACY LAW

Ann-Marie Ablan

SPECIAL NEEDS PARALEGAL

Ann-Marie Ablan is a paralegal at Everbright Legacy Law, where she focuses on Special Needs Trusts and Settlement Preservation Trusts. She supports trustees with annual accountings and manages the documentation that keeps these trusts running smoothly for the families who rely on them.

Ann-Marie earned an associate degree from Inver Hills Community College and is a Minnesota Certified Paralegal (MnCP).

After many years of gaining broad experience across multiple practice areas at a previous firm, Ann-Marie joined Everbright Legacy Law, looking for a focused environment where her background in guardianships, conservatorships, and trusts could be put to direct use. Her path into trust work happened naturally. Randy Boggio recognized her experience and invited her to take on the role, and she has been supporting clients and trustees in this capacity ever since.

What gives Ann-Marie the most joy in her work is helping people with disabilities and their families. Knowing that the assistance she provides makes a real difference in their lives is what keeps her coming back each day.

When she's not at the office, Ann-Marie enjoys time at the cabin with her husband and treasures every moment she gets to spend with her grandchildren.
