

Lauren Fink

FOUNDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW

Lauren Fink is the founder of Everbright Legacy Law. Lauren assists her clients with the implementation of estate, long-term care, and special needs planning. She obtained her Bachelor of Arts degree, with a major in English Literature, from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and her J.D. from William Mitchell College of Law.

Lauren's warm approach puts her clients at ease as she helps them develop a plan, making sure they are confident about their situations and futures.

Those who know Lauren well describe her as:

- Caring – She cares deeply about her clients and their situations and often finds herself thinking about ways to help them even when she's not at work. Her highest priority is making sure her clients are informed and confident about their situation and their future.
- Approachable – She is easy to talk to and makes every effort to make sure people don't feel intimidated. New clients say they feel immediately at ease around her and are comfortable asking questions and sharing the important details about their case.
- Good-natured – She likes to focus on the lighter side of things because she believes there is always a silver lining to any situation. She laughs easily and looks for ways to make both life and work more fun and enjoyable.

Lauren chose to become an elder law attorney because her own parents were caretakers for many elders in her family. She saw how difficult their job was and wanted the tools to act as a valued guide for others who cared for elders. She was especially inspired by the elderly members of her family and felt a deep calling to dedicate her life to helping them. Older adults are her favorite people to work with. She loves connecting with them, listening to their stories, and building lasting relationships with them.
