

Mike Metherd

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Mike is an attorney at Everbright Legacy Law, where his practice focuses on estate planning and probate. He works with clients to build and carry out estate plans that fit their goals, family circumstances, and long-term needs, guiding them through complex issues so they understand their options and put a clear, effective plan in place.

Mike's style with clients is conversational and practical. He takes time to understand what each client is trying to accomplish, explains the options in plain terms, and works through questions and concerns with them until the plan makes sense.

Mike earned a BA from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and a JD from the University of Dayton School of Law. He was admitted to the Ohio bar in 2012 and the Minnesota bar in 2016.

Those who know Mike well describe him as:

- Dependable – Clients know they can count on him.
- Approachable – People feel comfortable talking with him.
- Practical – He gives straightforward advice that fits each client's situation.

No single moment led Mike to estate planning. He was drawn to an area of law where he could work directly with people, solve practical problems, and help clients plan for issues that have a real impact on them and their families. Over time, he found he especially enjoyed the mix of problem-solving, attention to detail, and personal interaction that comes with this work.

Mike likes solving problems and helping people work through decisions that can be difficult or complicated. He finds it rewarding to take something that seems overwhelming at first and help a client leave with a plan that makes sense to them. He believes good planning can make things much easier for clients and their families down the road.
